“ Gill is a highly capable professional who has consistently demonstrated strong reporting skills in terms of professional presentation and reliability of data produced through rigid control checks. She has an outstanding knowledge of Excel and Cognos Controller and has supported the group finance function in many system development and reporting areas, including the design and build of a complex inter-company FX US GAAP model. I could not ask for more from a contracting professional and would have no hesitation in recommending Gill for a variety of professional roles, but especially in the areas of financial systems, analysis and reporting.
